Progress toward achievement of the University's goal to increase the number of African-American faculty, EEO-1 administrators, students and degrees awarded was assessed by review of statistical data during the period of fall 1998 through fall 2018. Annual progress can be reviewed beginning with 2007 as a baseline (Tables 1 and 2 above).

As indicated in Table 1, in fall 1998 26 (3.7%) of all university faculty were African-American. By 2007, this number increased to 30 (4.1%) and has since increased to 42 in 2018 (5.0%) of the total faculty). The percentage of African-American faculty at the University of South Alabama is close to the national average for public four-year institutions (5.2%) and exceeds the most recent public doctoral granting institution average of 4.3%. These percentages serve as evidence of the University's ongoing commitment to increase the presence of African-American faculty.

The number and percentage of African-American administrators in 2018 was 48, which represented 10.7% of all administrators. The percentage of African-American administrators remains higher than that of the faculty and is slightly higher than the national average for administrators (10.6%).

African-American undergraduate enrollment increased from 1,250 (13.4%) in fall 1998 to 2,346 (22.8%) in fall 2018. African-American graduate enrollment increased from 169 (9.2%) in fall 1998 to 550 (16.0%) in fall 2018. Overall enrollment fell at USA in fall of 2018, but the decline for African American students was less than for other students. The percentage of undergraduate African-American students increased for the second straight year to 22.8% of undergraduate students in 2018. In addition, the percentage of African-American enrollment at the research doctoral level and professional practice doctoral level increased in 2018. As evidenced by these numbers, the progress in increasing the total number of African-Americans earning degrees and the percentage of African-American graduates at USA.

In conclusion, the University has made substantial progress toward its goal of increasing the number of African-American faculty, EEO-1 level administrators, students, and degrees awarded although challenges remain in some areas. The University will continue to assess progress while sustaining the commitment to diversity and multiculturalism with an emphasis on African-Americans.
